Skills & Experience:

With a foundation in military service, I developed strong leadership skills and the ability to guide teams and committees with clarity and purpose. After transitioning out of the military, I became a child and family therapist, deepening my understanding of human behavior, communication, and the systems that shape our lives.

Alongside my therapeutic work, I built a career in professional entertainment, both in front of and behind the camera. This unique combination of experiences allows me to use storytelling, presence, and creative production to highlight the everyday environments and social dynamics that often go unnoticed.

My diverse background has positioned me to excel in public speaking, advocacy, consulting, and content creation. I'm committed to using my voice and my platform to inform, empower, and inspire others.

Application Questions:

What values and characteristics do you think board members must possess?

Board members in conservation should embody core values that reinforce their leadership qualities—especially patience, understanding, and empathy. These traits enable them to engage thoughtfully with communities, navigate long-term environmental challenges, and make decisions that honor both people and the natural world.

What excites you about the CCABMW and what are you passionate about regarding wildlife?

My mission is to serve our communities and landscapes with patience, understanding, and empathy as we work to conserve, protect, and enhance natural resources. We are committed to collaborative stewardship—engaging residents, landowners, and partners with respect and transparency. Through thoughtful leadership and long-term vision, we support sustainable land use, foster resilient ecosystems, and ensure that the natural heritage of our district thrives for generations to come.

How do you interact with a difficult personality or deal with differences of opinion?

Empathy, Hear, Listen, Understand, and speak.

In your opinion, what are the core responsibilities of board members?

To spread knowledge and outdoor adventures.

A large black rectangular box covers the area where the core responsibilities of board members would be listed, indicating they have been redacted.

I acknowledge that I have reviewed the scheduled meeting dates and will be available to attend meetings on a regular basis.

Letter of Interest – Board of Wildlife

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to express my sincere interest in serving on the Board of Wildlife. My life has been shaped by a deep and enduring connection to the outdoors, conservation, and the responsible use of our natural resources. Growing up in one of the most rural parts of Alabama, hunting and fishing were not simply recreational pastimes—they were essential to nourishment, family bonding, and understanding the rhythms of the land. I received my first firearm at the age of five, and from that moment forward, I have remained an avid and ethical meat hunter, grounded in respect for wildlife and the ecosystems that sustain us.

After proudly serving my country in the military, I continued my commitment to service as a Child and Family Therapist in the Pacific Northwest. This chapter of my life strengthened my belief in community, responsibility, and the importance of preserving natural spaces for future generations.

In an unexpected turn, my path led me into the entertainment industry, where I relocated to California and built a successful career in acting and directing. These diverse experiences ultimately converged when I became the host of Gun TV on the Pursuit Channel—a role that allowed me to blend communication, education, and my lifelong passion for responsible firearm use and outdoor traditions.

As life evolved, I began traveling across the United States to explore what is on America's menu—literally and culturally. While living in California, I was struck by how fascinated many people were with the idea of harvesting their own food. That curiosity inspired the creation of Field to Grill (F2G), a project dedicated to reconnecting people with the origins of their meals and promoting ethical, sustainable hunting practices.

My background spans rural tradition, military service, mental health, media, and national outreach. What ties these experiences together is a consistent dedication to stewardship, education, and bridging the gap between communities and the natural world. I believe these qualities would allow me to contribute meaningfully to the Board of Wildlife's mission and help support policies that balance conservation, access, and responsible use.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I would be honored to bring my experience, passion, and perspective to the Board.

Respectfully,

Rydell Danzie

Field to Grill is a unique Hunting/Cooking show where the Ocean and Wilderness serve as my Grocery store. I bring you healthy recipes from the field, emphasizing the importance of sourcing food directly from nature. With a Bow, Gun, or Reel, we bring it from the Field to the Grill!
