In my current role at Touro University Nevada, I work with a variety of community partners to secure appropriate clinical experiences for the students. One of the clinical experiences the program feels is very beneficial to students, is the clinical experiences with people experiencing SUD. As such, I work closely with partners like Foundation for Recovery and Behavioral Health Group. I also work closely to Latino organization like R.E.A.C.H. to help connect their clients to resources in the community that can provide in-language treatment and support.

In addition to my professional experience, I have personal experience relating to SUD. In my immediate family, I experienced first hand the effects of someone working their way through their addiction to opioids. Because of this experience, I have also been working on bringing a national camp that provides support and resources to children who have someone in their life who has SUD.

Department of Administrative Services-6th Floor
Attn: Opioid Task Force
P.O. Box 551715
Las Vegas, NV 89155-1712,

Dear Opioid Task Force,

Please let this letter serve as my Letter of Interest in joining the Opioid Task Force. I would like to introduce myself as a candidate who represents public health educators or community health workers who represent or serve persons with limited-English proficiency. As an upbeat and educated professional with community engagement experience, it is a privilege to be submitting my interest in this task force.

I am interested in joining this task force to gain further insight into the Opioid crisis here in Southern Nevada. I am deeply invested in this community and want to facilitate change where data shows changes are needed. I can help be the voice of other community health workers and/or Spanish speakers, and bridge the gap in communication and education.

In my current role at Touro University Nevada, I'm responsible for building long-lasting relationships with community partners in targeted areas. Because of these relationships, I'm able to get buy-in from clients and communicate effectively about issues in our community. I am confident that the skills I've developed in my previous and current roles have prepared me for this opportunity.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Mayra A. Gonzalez
