Skills & Experience:

I am a veteran and nonprofit executive with a lifelong commitment to learning and public service. As Executive Director of Veterans in Emerging Technology & AI Governance (VET-AIG), I manage organizational governance, strategic planning, and community partnerships—experience directly applicable to board service. Leading VET-AIG has taught me fiscal oversight, stakeholder engagement, and how to balance mission with operational sustainability.

My fifteen years in the Air Force, Army National Guard, and National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency developed my analytical rigor, collaborative leadership, and ability to synthesize complex information for diverse audiences—skills essential for thoughtful policy review and strategic decision-making at the board level.

I bring unique perspective on legal frameworks and regulatory compliance. Having completed the AI Ethics, Regulation, and Compliance Programme at Oxford's Saïd Business School, I understand how emerging technologies can empower communities or deepen exclusion. Law libraries are uniquely positioned to navigate this challenge as legal research evolves.

My connection to law is rooted in my B.A. in Criminal Justice from UNLV (Dean's List, Major GPA: 3.80/4.00), where I studied constitutional law, criminal procedure, and legal research methodologies. That foundation drives my belief that law libraries serve a critical dual mission: supporting legal professionals while ensuring self-represented litigants and community members can access the resources they need to understand their rights.

I would bring disciplined leadership, a commitment to equitable access, and enthusiasm for supporting both the legal community and the public the Law Library serves.

Letter of Interest – Clark County Law Library Board of Trustees

Dear Members of the Board of Trustees Selection Committee,

I am writing to express my sincere interest in serving as a Trustee for the Clark County Law Library. As a veteran, nonprofit executive, and former federal geospatial-intelligence analyst, I have dedicated my career to public service, analysis, and ethical stewardship of information—skills that align naturally with the Law Library’s mission to ensure equitable access to legal knowledge and resources.

My interest in law grew from a desire to protect and serve my family, loved ones, and community by understanding the systems that uphold justice. I earned my Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas (3.49 GPA, Dean’s List), where I studied constitutional law, criminal procedure, and justice-system administration. That education taught me how accessible legal information empowers citizens and strengthens democracy.

After my military and federal service, I founded Veterans in Emerging Technology & AI Governance (VET-AIG), a Nevada-based nonprofit that helps service members transition into careers in technology and policy. Through this work I gained practical experience in governance, fiscal oversight, and regulatory compliance—skills essential for effective board service and responsible public administration.

I also completed the AI Ethics, Regulation, and Compliance Programme at Oxford’s Saïd Business School, which deepened my understanding of how technology can both expand and complicate access to information, a challenge law libraries increasingly navigate as legal research and public records move online.

Law libraries serve a unique dual role: supporting legal professionals while ensuring that self-represented litigants and community members can understand their rights and navigate complex legal processes. I understand that Board membership requires strategic planning, fiscal oversight, and policy development. I am prepared to engage thoughtfully with library administration, stakeholders, and the public to ensure the Law Library remains financially sustainable and mission focused.

If appointed, I would bring disciplined leadership, integrity, and a commitment to transparency to advance the Law Library's mission. I am especially interested in supporting initiatives that enhance digital access, strengthen public legal education, and serve veterans and underserved residents of Clark County.

Thank you for considering my application and for your work maintaining one of our community's most important public institutions. I would be honored to contribute my skills, experience, and dedication to the Board of Trustees.

Sincerely,

Kurt F. Geyrozaga
