

ALEXIA HSIN CHEN AIA, LFA, NCARB

ARCHITECT AT LGA ARCHITECTURE

Alexia Chen is a dedicated and creative architect making a difference in her community. She believes that buildings can be an agent for change if we actively change what we do when practicing architecture. Alexia is passionate about creating places that bring people together, serving the community, and advocating for sustainability.

Originally from Taipei and studied in Honolulu, Alexia brings a unique understanding of diverse cultures and perspectives to her architectural work. With education spanning architecture, literature, visual and performing arts, her solutions balance beauty and functionality, environmental impact, and user experience.

Beyond design, Alexia excels as a leader. She understands that effective communication starts with listening to people. Alexia lends her leadership skills to the local design community as Secretary on the AIA Las Vegas Board. She also served as Board President for Vegas Theatre Company, helping grow the professional theatre in the Las Vegas Arts District. Her commitment, creativity, and drive to unite people continue to shape both the profession and her community.
