To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my interest in serving on the Asian American Pacific Islander Community Commission. I believe that I am a strong candidate for the role based on my personal, lived experiences as a Filipino American who grew up in Clark County and based on my experiences in government, community outreach, and law. I would be thrilled to use my insights and skills to promote the interests of the AAPI community and enhance the efforts of Clark County in addressing our unique needs, challenges, and perspectives.

Many of my fondest and most meaningful life experiences are connected to public service and community engagement. Whether it was advocating on behalf of my peers in student government, experiencing the Nevada law-making process as an intern in Carson City, or serving as a Peace Corps Master's International volunteer in Guatemala, each endeavor significantly shaped my career trajectory and who I am as a person. These experiences taught me to keep the interests and needs of those being served at the top of mind, to work collaboratively, and to always be willing to listen.

I took the lessons from those experiences and applied them as a Regional Representative on behalf of Senator Reid, serving as a liaison to the AAPI community and helping to plan and execute a variety of events aimed at educating, advocating for and providing resources to that community. At the UNLV Foundation, I built relationships with donors and alumni and, by learning about the interests and values that drive them, was able to link those passions to programs and opportunities for partnership on campus. My role at the Foundation also allowed me to work within UNLV, connecting with students and faculty and empowering them to grow their projects through network building and fundraising. Now, as an associate attorney at Snell & Wilmer, I advise clients on a variety of corporate matters – always working to ensure that their interests are being protected and that they are being poised for future success.

However, in each professional role, I have been reminded, in ways both subtle and glaringly obvious, that I don't fit the mold. Representation of AAPIs in all of my previous endeavors, and particularly in my current role, has been limited. On good days, I feel like I am forging a new path for those that will come after me. On bad days, I feel like I am struggling against the current. However, no matter what, I know that I owe it to the community to be a voice and to do whatever I can to chip away at the misconceptions and barriers that stand in our way.

I am applying for this role because it is an opportunity to contribute to efforts to level what is typically a very uneven playing field. The pandemic has introduced new challenges, including economic uncertainty and rising hate against AAPIs, and I am ready to use my skills and experiences as a leader, facilitator and advocate to help create a better and more just environment for my AAPI neighbors. It would be an honor to be a part of the AAPICC and I appreciate your consideration.

Sincerely,
